

Hoosier, Congressman Frank McCloskey, who lost his battle with cancer on Sunday, November 2. Congressman McCloskey dedicated his life to serving his country and our home State of Indiana, setting an example of personal conviction and political courage throughout his years as a public servant.

Francis Xavier McCloskey was born on June 12, 1939 in Philadelphia. He earned both his undergraduate and law degrees at Indiana University in Bloomington, where he would later serve as mayor for three terms, following 4 years in the Air Force and a brief career as a newspaper reporter. During his time as mayor, McCloskey transformed Bloomington politics with his new style of leadership. He initiated a transit service and the first direct passageway through the center of Bloomington, and oversaw the formation of city boards and commissions dedicated to the environment, women and human rights.

In 1982, McCloskey was elected to the U.S. Congress from Indiana's 8th district. In a district known across the Nation for its tumultuous and closely contested races, McCloskey held his seat to serve as Congressman for six terms. During his time in office, Frank McCloskey became one of the first public servants to travel overseas and witness first hand the atrocities taking place in Bosnia. A man of great compassion and conviction, Frank McCloskey focused his career on ending the ethnic cleansing taking place in Bosnia during the 1990s. His dedication to the cause continued even after he left public office, until cancer forced him to cancel his plans to return to Bosnia and continue democratic reforms there.

The sense of loss to all those who knew Congressman Frank McCloskey is tremendous. His work in Bloomington and later in Washington inspired a generation of Hoosiers to answer the call to public service. Many of Indian's current political leaders owe their start to the example set by McCloskey, and their continued works will serve as a lasting legacy to a man who dedicated his life to serving others. He is survived by his wife, Roberta Ann Barker, and their two children, Helen and Mark.

It is my honor to enter the name of Congressman Frank McCloskey into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

HONORING MRS. CAROL KANAREK

• Mr. GRAHAM of Florida. Mr. President, every November organizations throughout America recognize the spirit of community service with National Philanthropy Day.

This November, I would like to take the opportunity to congratulate an outstanding Floridian, Mrs. Carol Kanarek of Vero Beach, who is receiving the 2003 National Philanthropy Day

Unsung Hero Award from the Treasure Coast Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals.

The Unsung Hero Award is given to an individual who has been an exceptional volunteer. Carol Kanarek certainly fits this description.

Carol Kanarek is a valued member of the Vero Beach community for her leadership, commitment, and extensive knowledge and experience. She is known as a coalition builder—someone who brings people and resources together to further the goals of the organizations for whom she volunteers. She has a true love of people, and a compassion for all causes.

For more than 20 years, Mrs. Kanarek has volunteered her time and energy to numerous organizations in her community including health care organizations, religious organizations, schools, and charities. For example, Mrs. Kanarek has worked with the Riverside Children's Theatre, the March of Dimes, the United Way, the Visiting Nurses Association Hospice House, St. Edwards School, and the Temple Beth Shalom. This list is by no means exhaustive.

No project is too big or too small for Mrs. Kanarek. From chairing the Rabbi Selection committee at Temple Beth Shalom to working the concession stand at a Riverside Children's Theatre event, she always makes time. When working on committees, Mr. Kanarek is known as a consensus builder, always considering the concerns of others when developing a solution. Her gracious manner and gentle persistence have made Mrs. Kanarek a valuable asset to the many organizations of which she is a member. Mrs. Kanarek's patience and tireless enthusiasm for community service distinguish her as a woman who places others before herself.

Mr. President, philanthropy is one of defining characteristics of American society. Service for the benefit of others and commitment to something greater than personal reward strengthen our communities and neighborhoods, bringing us together and improving our quality of life.

I commend Carol Kanarek for her commitment to community service, volunteerism, and philanthropy. I am pleased that outstanding Floridians like Mrs. Kanarek are setting an example for communities across our nation, and I want to thank her for her service. •

THE EXPLORING FREE ENTERPRISE PROGRAM

• Mr. NELSON of Nebraska. Mr. President, over the past few years the U.S. Senate has acted to stimulate the American economy. This spring we passed an economic stimulus package to provide meaningful tax relief for businesses and assistance for unemployed workers to soften the blow of difficult economic times. We have also worked to approve trade agreements that ensure a free and fair trade market for U.S. businesses.

As we work on these measures to improve our economy today, it is equally important to ensure that America's economy remains strong for the next generation as well.

I recently joined with Chadron State College to establish the Exploring Free Enterprise program. This program will focus on teaching students in elementary, middle and high school the principles of market economics, entrepreneurship, personal financial success and business ethics.

Entrepreneurship is a particularly important skill in Nebraska. A revitalized rural economy requires individuals who are able to seize upon openings in the marketplace and expand employment opportunities.

Business ethics is another area of great importance. I am proud to be a part of a program that will teach our future leaders that being honest is even more important than making money.

In 2002 I was honored to receive the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Spirit of Enterprise award. The Exploring Free Enterprise program seeks to spread that spirit of enterprise to a new generation of young business leaders and entrepreneurs. It is their entrepreneurial spirit that will drive America's economic engine in a competitive world economy.

I would like to thank Chadron State College for the opportunity to participate in this program and especially Dr. Rick Koza, the director of the program, and Dr. Tom Krepel, president Chadron State College, for their leadership.

Together, our investment in education recognizes that while children may only be 20 percent of our population, that they are 100 percent of our future. •
